A complete review of the literature is not indicated except where such an article has been specifically recruited or designated. Chapters in books will be capitalized in the same fashion as journal articles. Authors past three will be designated "et al.". Journal abbreviations should conform to the style of Index Medicus (also used by American Journal of Psychiatry).

Tables and Figures should be so clear that their meaning is understandable without the text. Tables should be typed on separate sheets with data read down rather than across.
